Art Unit: 1754

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because they are directed to a perpetual motion machine and are therefor inoperative. It is well-settled that perpetual motion machines are inoperative, since such machines allegedly operate in a manner inconsistent with known scientific principles. Newman v. Quigg, 877 F.2d 1575, 11

USPQ2d 1340 (Fed. Cir. 1989). See MPEP 2107.01 II.

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The specification is not enabling, since the invention is inoperative, and therefore applicant has not instructed one of ordinary skill in the art how to use the invention..

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The claims are indefinite, since it is not clear what their metes and bounds are. The claims are not in the form of a phrase or phrases, ending with a period, so that one could determine exactly what positive process steps are embraced and excluded thereby.
